Political Science 391: Latino Politics
(Fall 2011)

Professor Sophia J. Wallace
E-mail: sophia.wallace@uky.edu
Course Website: https://elearning.uky.edu/

Lecture: Tuesday/Thursday 2:00pm- 3:15pm College of Engineering Robotics Bldg. Rm. 323
Office Hours: Thursday 3:30-5:00pm Or By appointment in POT 1633

Course Overview:
According to the 2010 Census, there are 50.5 million Latinos in the U.S. which constitutes 16.7% of the national population. Latinos are the largest minority group and are expected to be the majority of the population in some states such as California by 2050. This course will provide a general survey of Latino Politics in the United States. The purpose of the course is to learn about both the history and political processes Latinos have taken part in but also probe deeper theoretical questions of ethnicity. For example, what is a Latino pan-ethnic identity? How do different national origin groups vary in terms of culture, history, and political engagement? A significant segment of the course will focus on the policy process and examine the interaction of Latinos with other political actors and groups. The course begins with theoretical conceptions of ethnicity. Subsequent topics include political participation, social movements, institutions, and representation. Finally, this course will utilize films on topics of the course such as immigration, the Chicano Movement, and undocumented workers.

Course Requirements:
Students are required to write two papers (6-8 pages) during the course of the semester. The due dates are October 11th and November 22nd. Papers are considered late if not turned in by the time lecture begins at 2:00pm. Papers must be turned in hard copy and uploaded to Safe Assign on Blackboard. Electronic submissions are not permitted.

A take home final exam will be due on December 15th at 10:30am. The exam will be cumulative.

Attendance at weekly lecture is not mandatory but highly recommended since the class format will include lecture and discussion.

Grade Breakdown:
Paper 1: 25%
Paper 2: 25%
Participation: 15%
Final Exam: 35%

 Please note that in order to receive a passing grade in this course, all assignments and exams must be turned in and completed

Grading Scale:
90-100% A
80-89.9% B
70-79.9% C
60-69.9% D
59.9 and below E
Procedures:

Attendance/Absences
Attendance is not required but is highly encouraged. A substantial portion of the overall course grade is from participation and it is necessary to participate in class to receive these points. Moreover the paper prompt and exams will draw heavily from lecture material, therefore absences would result in difficulty in achieving maximum points on these assignments. If students are absent, it is his/her responsibility to obtain notes from lecture. Lecture notes and power point slides will not be provided by the instructor.

Extensions
If you become ill or have some other emergency and cannot turn in a paper on time or take an exam on the scheduled day, you must notify me ahead of time and provide documentation. Only after written confirmation from me that you can either turn in a paper late or take an exam at an alternate time without penalty, should you consider the extension granted. NO EXEPTIONS

Late Penalty
The late penalty is 10% per day after the due date. After three days, no late papers will be accepted nor will alternate exams be administered. NO EXCEPTIONS.

Laptops
Laptops can be used for the purposes of taking notes in class. However, due to the distracting nature of the screens, all students who wish to use a laptop must sit in the back rows of the class.

Students with Disabilities
If you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please see me as soon as possible during scheduled office hours. In order to receive accommodations in this course, you must provide me with a Letter of Accommodation from the Disability Resource Center Room 2, Alumni Gym, 257-2754.

Participation Grading
Participation comprises 15% of the overall course grade. Students are expected to come prepared to discuss the assigned material. This means readings should be completed before the Tuesday class of each week unless otherwise noted by the instructor. Some of the readings are extremely challenging in terms of the concepts they introduce and the evidence they employ. Most of these articles cannot be quickly skimmed, meaning that students should budget appropriate time for reading and thinking through each article, as well as how they relate to each other. Participation will be evaluated on both the quality and quantity of comments from students. Moreover participation/performance in activities in class such as small group discussion, debates, pop-quizzes and simulations may also be factored into the participation grade.

Discussion Expectations
My goals for discussion are threefold:
1. Clarify any points of confusion from my lectures.
2. Discuss the main themes from the week’s readings.
3. Engage the literature by thinking critically about the theories and evidence confirming or disconfirming the arguments.

If we do all of the above, we have had a successful discussion.
Respect and Discussion Rules
Every student brings a different perspective to the classroom. Part of my job is to make sure that one viewpoint is not privileged over others. Dialogue in my class is expected to always be respectful. We all reserve the right to respectfully disagree with one another; we do not have the right to intimidate anyone.

Citations/Footnotes
In your papers you must cite authors from whom you draw ideas/quotations. The typical style in political science is (Last Name, Year of Publication: Page) or (Winter, 1996: 118). Footnotes and endnotes are also acceptable ways of acknowledging work. In your exams it is a good idea to cite authors that we have in the course; page numbers are obviously not required. You can use any citation style you prefer as long as it an official style i.e. MLA or Chicago.

Plagiarism and Cheating
Plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses at UK. The minimum punishment is the receipt of a grade of an E in the course.

What constitutes misrepresentation? Obviously, purchasing a paper from the internet is one way. Failing to give credit where credit is due—appropriating quotes from published authors as your own or representing authors’ ideas as your own—also constitutes plagiarism. For further information you can consult the university’s policy of Student Affairs at URL: http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html

Sections 6.3.1 and 6.3.2 discuss the definitions of cheating and plagiarism. If you are having trouble assimilating outside information into your own ideas or have any other questions concerning academic writing, see the Writing Center, W.T. Young Library 5th Floor, or come to my office hours.

Blackboard & TurnItIn
Students are required to turn in written assignments in paper copy and electronic copy when noted on the assignment sheet. Failure to turn in both formats by the deadline, will result in a late penalty until both formats are submitted. Please be aware that the electronic copy is submitted to TurnItIn on the blackboard website. It is a software program that checks for plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty. All students are required to submit to this program. It is the student’s responsibility to verify that the electronic upload was successful and print a confirmation sheet.

Readings & Other Information
On average, the course readings per week will be approximately 100 pages. There are no required books for this course. Instead all material is available electronically and can be printed out. The electronic PDFs will be available for download from the course website under Assignments.

If you have any straightforward administrative or logistical questions not of a personal nature (e.g. readings for the week; location of exam, etc.) please consult the website first and then email me if you still cannot find the answer.

Please note the instructor reserves the right to change the syllabus.

Good luck and I look forward to a great term together!
